Tularcitos Carnival

Hi, Ho — Come to the Fair! The Tularcitos springtime-family fun-fair will be held this Saturday, May 21st, from 11:00 until 3:30 p.m. Following the theme of "All American", the sponsoring Parent Club is presenting an old-fashioned carnival — something for all ages — with all the traditional attractions.

Co-chairmen, Gini and Jim Luttrell have invited each classroom to sponsor and decorate a booth to be manned by their parents with the Room Co-ordinators in charge.

You are invited to: Spin the Wheel of Fortune with Dottie Crivello and her committee representing Herb Reuter's class; test your skill on the Milk Bottle Throw chaired by Sarah Slautterback for the Kindergarten classes; or the Cane Throw planned for Lorri Lockwood's class by Sharon Hermes; or try Tic Tac Toe directed by Linda Radon fro Fred Pomeroy's class.

Luther Askew's room has Thema Lee coordinating a Fish Bowl Throw; Junior Basketball for Patrick Allen's room is headed by Sarah Pease; the Clown Bean Bag Toss for Mary Puckett's class is planned by Anna Rheim; a Squirt Gun Candle Race for Susan Venturelli's class by Vicky Owen; and Valerie Spaulding invites you to the Bingo Game sponsored by Philip Smith's room.

Joellen Lee has cakes galore for the Cake Walk sponsored by Naomi Reddert's classroom — the confections are donated by parents of the entire student body.

Tularcitos jackets and tee shirts may be purchased as souveniers along with hand-made craft items according to Sue Clayton, who heads the Novelty Booth for Evelyn Damgaard's group; here will be two outstanding door prizes following the late afternoon drawing for a 10 speed bicycle and a piece of jewelry from the Gold Crucible. Tickets may be purchased prior to and during the Carnival hours — 25 cents each or 5 for $1.00

Ralph Verde — a Tularcitos "alum" will present a Magic Show with three performances scheduled for 12:30, 1:30, and 2:30.

Novelty races, such as three-legged races and parent-child relays, are also planned as a free attraction.

Susan Thamer, Kathy Nicholsen, and Candy McWhorter know that the success of any Carnival is based on good things to eat, so they have taken over this crowd-pleaser for the Kindergarten "late bird" class. In addition to traditional hot dogs, corn dogs, soft drinks, and fruit juice there will also be caramel apples, chocolate covered bananas, popcorn, and cotton candy. Frozen yoghurt sundaes will be sold at a special booth provided by Ma Perkins Yoghurt Barn of Pacific Grove.

All proceeds from the Carnival will go to the Tularcitos Parent Club. "This is our major money-making event of the year," says co-chairman, Jim Luttrell, "and we hope to provide the Parent Club with a good foundation for next year's work."

Almost the entire Parent Club budget goes toward helping the school in such areas as craft and interest center supplies, volunteer expenses, the Fifth Grade Graduation party, outdoor education scholarships, Christmas trees, and school equipment.

"...Hi Ho, come to the Fair!"

Wylie Band correction

Gremlins in the printers' ink again, misplaced the Wylie Band Concert which will be held this Friday — May 20th — at Monterey Peninsula College.

The Band performed last week-end at the Fairgrounds and are set for this — their second — MPC appearance since returning from tour.

Members of the group include Jim Halleck, Ira "Butch" Stern, John Tobias, Al Arellano, and John Mirani. Lead guitarist is Rick Wylie Richards.

Dance and Twirl Day

Thirty-seven Carmel and Carmel Valley children participated in the First Annual Dance and Twirl Day last weekend. The event was sponsored by the Dance and Twirl Clubs of the Monterey Peninsula and had over 130 children ages 5 - 15 participating. They performed in various categories including basic marching, twirling, "Miss Dance and Twirl", and strutting. The clubs performing group also gave an exhibition. Members of the Carmel Dance and Twirl Club, sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District, who participated were: Mia Maxinoski, Heather Singeleton, Danielle Charland, Shelly Sonnenberg, Cherie Sonnenberg, Jennifer Horn, Michelle Garrett, Kelley Smith, Allison Beck, Kathy Irwin, Mary Abell, Cindy McQueen, Charlotte Garrett, Jackie Garrett, Ginger Westcott, Tricia Priestley, Deanna DeRuosi, Brandie Luce, Kimberly Scott, Kari Kunkle. Following the Dance and Twirl Day, the performing group entertained at the opening of Monterey's new Conference Center.

Tate's firstborn

Sherie and Gary Tate welcomed their firstborn, a baby daughter, who arrived May 11th at the Community Hospital. Carrie Margaret, the namesake of her paternal greatgrandmother and grandmother, weighed 7 pounds 15 ounces.

Proud grandparents include Carrie's maternal grandfather, Mr. Phil Winkoop of Oakland and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tate of Oakland. Lucky Carrie has a "Grandmother in residence" for a few days at the family home on Buena Vista in Robles Del Rio.

Parties before the infant's arrival included a shower for Sherie hosted by Phyliss Thorngate-Keel.

Talent hunt programs

Capt. Alvin N. Swilley III, who is stationed at Fort Ord, issues an invitation to the young people of the area to compete in the Fourth Annual Talent Hunt Program to be sponsored by Omicron Nu Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. The talent presentation will be held at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall on Sunday, June 5th at 3 p.m.

Omega Psi has dedicated itself to cultural, social, and educational achievement. The Talent Hunt was initiated in 1945 in an effort to assist in the development of exceptionally talented young people.

Contestants in this program will be evaluated in four categories: vocal solos; instrumental solos; drama or reading; and dance. Contestants must be high school students. First place winners in each category will be awarded a cash prize of $25. In addition, those first place winners who give quality performances considered to be most competitive may be invited to represent the local chapter at the fraternity's 12th District competition in June, in San Jose, California. Winners there may be invited to the fraternity's Grand Conclave to be held in New Orleans in December.

Entry forms must be in not later than May 29th. For further information, call Capt. Swilley, 242-3419 after 7:00 p.m.

RLS defeats Carmel

By NANCY FLEMING

RLS edged the Carmel High baseball team 1-0 in a recent game which left the Padres with a 6-5 record in league.

Brian Mignano was victorious Stevenson pitcher striking out 11 and giving up only 4 hits. Carmel's hurler, Bob Lytle, gave up only 5 hits but the loss dropped his record to 6-4.

RLS' one and only run came in the top of the third and Carmel had several chances to score but failed to come through. Carmel Coach Monty Feekes explained that missed squeeze play signs and steal attempts were a definite problem throughout the game.

Carmel's J.V. team, however, defeated RLS 7-0. The winning pitcher, John Lucido, played an excellent game striking out 16 batters. Neil Vandervort continued his uncanny streak of homeruns smacking his 7th of the year. Dave Stevenson and Dave Carpenter each had two hits to help lead the Padres to victory.

The J.V.'s are 8-1-2 in league, 14-2-4 overall and are presently sitting in first place.

The Carmel High track team placed third in the Mission Trail Athletic League Track and Field Championships in King City.

Palma placed first with 85 points, King City second with 63, followed by Carmel—48, Hollister—38, Gonzales—36, RLS—29, and PG—5.

The Padres took four first place finishes, two which were won by Kevin Murphy. Murphy ran the 100 in 10.2 and the 220 in 23.5.

Carmel's 440 relay team turned in another first at 45.2 seconds. The relay team consisted of Mark Brunn, Charlie Houghton, Dan Azcarate and Murphy.

Other outstanding team members were: Richard Williams who placed second in the high jump and fourth in high hurdles, Kelly Beckett who placed fourth in the 880, Tom Larson who placed fourth in the discus and Mark Brunn who placed fourth in the 220 and the mile relay team. Chris Rembert took fifth in the triple jump and Carolyn Snorf walked away with two firsts, one in the 880, the other in the mile.

Staff Players

Two one-acts, one winner

By SEAN MCLEOD

The Monterey Peninsula is fortunate in having two organizations which can occasionally take a chance on a new script: The Children's Experimental Theatre, and MPC. There is always some extra excitement in a "premiere," whatever the quality.

The Staff Players — the adult company of the CET — are currently presenting two original one-act plays at the Forest Theater-in-the-Ground. Theatre buffs should see them now, since they are only being shown for two weekends.

The main play is "Travelling Companions," by Dyke Garrison. It is an interesting and well-constructed suspense drama, set in a train crossing the Iron Curtain. In its subject, style, and treatment, the story would do well as a "film-made-for-television."

The plot unfolds in a single small compartment of a European railway carriage. The problem of presenting it on stage is solved creatively by director Rosemary Garrison: the staging and setting are suggestive, but done well enough that there is no difficulty in accepting the convention.

Four people have booked the compartment for the journey into Western Europe: an American widow and her daughter, and a Slavic sociologist and his wife. As they approach the border, the compartment is invaded first (and repeatedly) by an officious, suspicious conductor, and then by a peculiar and cryptic old man.

The play has suspense, humor, interesting characters, and believable relationships. The production itself, however, has a few problems. Notably, the acting ranges from very good to barely so-so, but all within a stilted and sometimes amateurish style. (Speech, pause; line, pause; line, pause; speech...)

Some of the performers manage to avoid this trap, though. Tanya Harding does a sensitive and convincing portrayal of the frightened wife. It is she who creates the realistic suspense and captures the audience's sympathy. Milton Hayes, as the quiet, determined husband, adds some gentle humanity with his characterization.

Jane Strauch, as the world-wise (but not jaded) widow, also gives a fine performance. She adds both humor and compassion, along with some believable anger, confusion, and toleration.

Kate Littlefield is passable as the adolescent daughter, but is obviously acting. Jeff Hudelson, as the conductor, is acceptably unpleasant, but occasionally substitutes bombast for the chilling and capricious power of his office.

Paul Bernard, as the strange old man, is simultaneously quite good and rather disappointing. He handles the comedy very well, and he controls the stage when appropriate. But his portrayal of age is better suited to a farce than to a life-and-death drama. Although "doddering" elaborately, he moves and speaks with the agility of a young man.

In fairness, the fault is not entirely his: the farcical nature of his performance is irritatingly magnified by terrible makeup. His face is so covered with fluffy cotton that any communist conductor would instantly arrest him for impersonating a bourgeois department-store Santa Claus.

But in spite of its defects, "Travelling Companions" is worth seeing. Unfortunately, the other play is not.

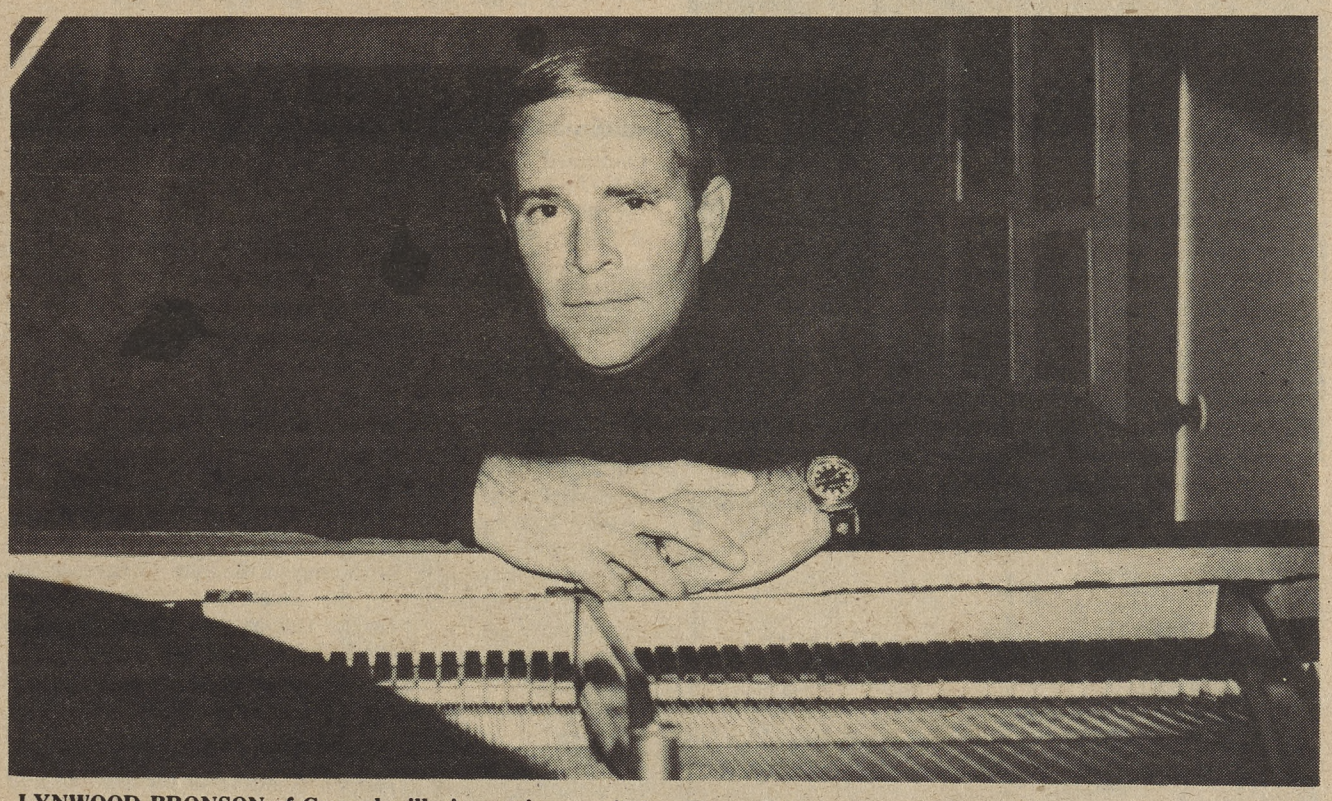
"Mac's Place", the curtain opener, was written and directed by Marcia Gambrell Hovick. Its production is an excellent argument for the old dictum that an author should never direct his or her own script.

The play is a tortured melodrama about the ways women lose men during a war. It does successfully capture the turgid dialogue characteristic of stories in slick women's magazines some twenty or thirty years ago. But that is hardly a virtue.

The plot is as artificial as the dialogue, and the acting manages to accent the faults of both. The only performer (at least with lines) who is not actually embarrassing is Rosemary Garrison.

Even the setting is slapdash and shabby. Fortunately, the play is short — not over half an hour — and it does have some movement.

But criticisms notwithstanding, the Staff Players must be commended for presenting these original plays. They will be shown again, this weekend only, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings at 8:30. For information and reservations call 624-1531.



LYNWOOD BRONSON of Carmel will give a piano recital at Hartnell College on May 29 at 2:30 p.m. The concert, being presented by the Hartnell College Fine Arts Department, will be open to the public without charge.

Panetta on housing

PANETTA OPPOSES LOW INCOME HOUSING EVICTIONS

Representative Leon Panetta, Carmel Valley, is leading congressional efforts to prevent the evictions of low-income and elderly families from federally assisted housing and has supported a successful amendment to require 25 percent of present housing funds to go to communities under 50,000 population.

Evictions have been occurring in the 16th Congressional District and elsewhere in the country as a result of administrative policy set by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The Department's decision requires landlords to convert from section 23 to section 8 housing, which forces them to assume all management responsibilities.

Many landlords are refusing to renew leases under the new regulations, leading to sudden evictions of low-income and elderly tenants.

In a letter to HUD Secretary Patricia Harris, co-signed by other California representatives, Panetta stated: "Unless immediate action is taken to forestall the elimination of the section 23 program, there is a strong likelihood that as many as 40,000 low-income and elderly families in California could be evicted within the next twelve months. Many have already been evicted, and as each day passes more will be displaced.

Panetta's letter asks that Secretary Harris consider immediately extending the termination date for the section 23 program, increasing rental subsidies to equal going rates in areas with low vacancy rates, reducing administrative red tape and ultimately moving to continue the present section 23 program.

TELEPHONE TIPS

My name is Jack Head. I'm the Pacific Telephone Manager for this area.

The other day I asked Keith Agee if he had a telephone tip I could pass on to you in this column. Keith is in charge of our installation and repair work on the Peninsula.

Many times folks can save money on telephone installation work by "being ready" when our installer arrives at their home or office, according to Keith. Our installers like to do the job right the first time, without extra trips. That includes making sure that customers get the kind of phone they need in the most convenient locations. Extra trips can be costly.

When customers can't be home to talk over their phone plans with our installers, they should leave clear instructions with a responsible person, is another tip suggested by Keith.

Recently, we started installing jacks or outlets on new and many existing installations. Before long, residence customers will be able to order a phone or even pick one up at our "store," take it home and plug it in.

Right now though, our customers can often save money by "being ready" when our installer arrives.

Thanks Keith.

Joe Ortman, ambulance driver, shows what happened to the Valley's old ambulance's axle last week.

Sheer luck

The Carmel Valley Ambulance started in the Valley at the insistence of the residents when they realized that the service from town was exceptionally slow whenever an accident occurred. The first rescue vehicle was a discard box-type which had been donated, followed by a 1949 model which was a little better. In 1965 a new oldsmobile (FOB $9,850) arrived in the Village as a replacement and was hailed with delight by the volunteer ambulance attendants as well as those who supported the idea, but hoped they would never have to be a passenger. The Olds was the latest in ambulances with the best of equipment, but like everything else, wear and tear caught up with it.

William Webb of Tularcitos made it to Community Hospital last week after a rattlesnake bite with no trouble — thanks to the Carmel Valley Village ambulance, but the ambulance didn't make it back to the village.

After safely delivering its emergency load to the hospital, the ambulance sheered a rear axle along Carmel Valley Road. A new ambulance has now been purchased to replace the worn-out Village Ambulance.

Last year alone, the ambulance responded to 22 automobile accidents, 100 medical cases and 1,050 general calls. It logged over 2200 miles.

BREAKING GROUND for the sanitary district's new solids handling facility last Friday was Board President Charlotte Hurst, along with Bub Bigelow, project superintendent Mike Wilson, Ken McGinnis, Jim Pruitt, Max Drewien and David Berry.

Coming up Memorial Day weekend, Saturday and Sunday, May 28th and 29th, is one of the most outstanding events that takes place on the Monterey Peninsula. It is the annual Spring Show of the Carmel Valley Dressage Society. Poetry in motion...beautiful horses in an elegant setting...a paean to the fine art of horsemanship... The annual show at the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Moiso in Los Ranchitos is the "ne plus ultra" of horsedom. If this show were held in Europe it would attract many thousands of spectators. In America the dressage enthusiasts seem limited to those horseback riders — an ever growing number — who have tried dressage.

Okay, spectators and sports fans. Here it is: HOW TO WATCH DRESSAGE.

Dressage tests are ridden by one horse and rider at a time in a 20 x 60 meter arena lettered with markers that show the rider where to begin and end each required movement. Spectators are kept back 10 meters from the arena and it is customary for them to be very quiet while the horse is in the arena. One does not enter, leave, call to friends, or bust out laughing during prayers in church nor during the time a horse is in a dressage arena.

Horses enter at a regular even pace and in order to get this going, the rider starts some little ways back from the entrance. After entering, the horse is made to halt squarely on all four legs and stand perfectly still while the rider salutes the judge. This is the first opportunity for the spectator to find fault — crooked halts, fidgety horses are common. Also watch to see that the horse moves off the halt smoothly and straight ahead.

The standard dressage gait is the trot. We watch to see that the trot is even and that the horse is flexing his hocks and patella joint (stifle) equally. At the ordinary trot, the hind foot lands in the hoofprint left by the fore foot. One way to judge if the trot is sufficiently active is to watch the hind shoes. If they point up at the sky behind the horse, he is leaving his hind feet behind him. On a trotting horse that is correctly engaging his hind quarters, the shoe will not even reach vertical before the leg carries it forward for the next stride.

A most spectacular movement is the extended trot. Because the strides are longer, the spectator can actually hear the hoofbeat rhythm slow down as the horse extends. The extended trot should not be merely a faster trot. Clicking or forging will be penalized by the judge.

In the canter, the most common flaw will be a tendency of the horse to wiggle his hindquarters to one side. The hind feet must follow exactly the track of the forefeet whether the horse is moving on a straight line or around a curve. The transition from trot to canter is easily critiqued: Some horrses slop into the canter front feet first. They are said to fall into it. Smooth transitions begin hind feet first.

In the collected canter watch the leading hind foot. It will show not only the engagement and activity the horse is putting into his effort but also whether he is relaxed and responsive.

In all the collected gaits, the horse is using the muscles of his back most strongly. The back muscles are stretched in the longest line possible from hind hoof, which reaches far forward under the horse's belly, to upper lip, which is extended down as far as conformation will allow. Of course it would be impossible for a horse to push himself that far without help from the rider. This help is called "on the bit." It means the horse can lean on the snaffle bit in his mouth the way a ballet dancer leans on the practice barre — and for the same reason.

If the horse bends his head so far down that it is past the vertical, he is not on the bit. He is "behind the bit." Score it zero.

The judge likes to see a light foam around the horse's lips. This means he is chewing lightly on the bit but without any audible grinding of the teeth. However it is a terrible fault for the horse to open his mouth. Worst fault of all is for him to put his head up in the air. This means the horse is resisting the rider or the rider is resisting the horse or anyhow their entire act has fallen apart.

Near the end of the test, the rider salutes the judge again. But that is not the end. he is being judged until he actually exits the arena which the horse is supposed to do at a free walk on a loose rein.
